Special Abilities:

Amphibious: Chelidae are equally at home in the water as they are on the surface, and are capable of breathing both.

Story Factors:

Quiet: Although perfectly capable of speaking, Chelidae do not speak unless they need to, prefering to not bring attention to themselves in any way in both speech and deeds.

Precise: Chelidae prefer to not rush their work, performing it carefully and precisely, and will generally take twice as long to complete any task unless there is immediate need for it's completion.

Move: 10/12
Size: 1.7 meters tall

Description: Chelidae were a sentient species indigneous to the planet Castilon. While amphibious, they preferred to live above the water. They were enclosed in a natural protective shell, and the males sported facial hair while the females did not.
