Planets D6 / Foundry

Name: Foundry
Region: Colonies
System: Foundry system
Grid coordinates: N-10
Class: Terrestrial
Primary terrain: Industrial
Immigrated species: Humans, Skakoans
Primary language(s): Galactic Basic Standard
Major cities: Denus (capital)

Description: Foundry was a planet in the Colonies.

Prior to the Clone Wars, Foundry was one of many worlds used by the Techno Union to manufacture B1 battle droids. Its workers designed the powerful B3 ultra battle droid. It was one of five places where such production was stopped by the Techno Union to give the illusion battle droids were no longer being produced, whereas in reality such droids were being mass-produced in secret Outer Rim Territories facilities such as Geonosis. The planet was rich in the minerals hfredium, kammris and dolovite: metals vital in construction of starships, as well as for the construction of durasteel, ceraglass, and chromium.

Wat Tambor's private estate was located on the planet, in the city Denus.

The Galactic Empire later used the planet to manufacture TIE/LN starfighters and experimental warships. The Staraker was stolen by Luke Skywalker and Leia Organa on this planet.

By 4 ABY, the planet had become an Imperial fortress world. Foundry and nearby Commenor were abandoned by the Empire in 6 ABY, when New Republic forces moved to the Colonies from the Kashyyyk system.

Places
Denus
Denus was a city on Foundry. It was home to one of Wat Tambor's many residences.

Stats by FreddyB, Descriptive text from WookieePedia
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.