Description: A model of security droid was utilized by the New Republic. The security droids were used aboard New Republic prison ships. When boarding a prison transport to rescue the prisoner Qin, a team of mercenaries recruited by Ranzar Malk encountered a number of the security droids. The droids were destroyed by the bounty hunter known as the Mandalorian. The team later betrayed the Mandalorian, trapping him in a cell, but the bounty hunter pulled a security droid towards him with a grappling hook and tore off its arm, using it to unlock the door.
