Characters D6 / CZ-1 (CZ-series secretary/bus

Name: CZ-1
Manufacturer: Serv-O-Droid, Inc.
Product line: CZ-series secretary/business communications droid
Class: Secretary droid
Gender: Masculine programming
Sensor color: Black
Plating color: White

Dexterity: 1D
Knowledge: 1D
    Bureaucracy 5D, Business 4D, Languages 4D
Mechanical: 1D
    Communications 5D
Perception: 1D
Strength: 1D
Technical: 1D
    Encryption 7D

Equipped with:
    Humanoid Body (two arms, two legs, head)
    Two visual and two auditory sensors - human range
    Vocabulator speach/ sound system
    Alpha Hironate Droid Brain
    Internal Commlink with orbital range
    Encrypted Data Store

Move: 6
Size: 1.7 meters tall
Cost: 700 (used)

Description: CZ-1 was a CZ-series secretary/business communications droid with masculine programming that was paired with CZ-3, another droid of the same model. After a crash left him abandoned on the planet Tatooine, CZ-1 became separated from CZ-3 and ended up in a pile of scrap on board a Jawa sandcrawler, where he encountered the astromech droid R2-D2 in 0 BBY.

Biography
CZ-1 was the designation of a CZ-series secretary/business communications droid manufactured by Serv-O-Droid, Inc. with masculine programming. He was twinned with fellow CZ unit CZ-3 in service to members of the Stacchati species.

After a crash in the deserts of the planet Tatooine, CZ-1 was abandoned and became separated from CZ-3. He then broke down and was captured by Jawa scavengers. In 0 BBY, the secretary droid was on board the sandcrawler of the Jawa Chief Nebit's tribe when the astromech droid R2-

D2 was brought on board after being captured in the Jundland Wastes.

As the astromech rolled past CZ-1 while surveying his surroundings, the secretary droid swayed back and forth amidst a heap of scrap. R2-D2 was later sold when the sandcrawler stopped at the Lars moisture farm, after which Imperial stormtroopers massacred Nebit's tribe and left its sandcrawler abandoned in the desert.

Characteristics
CZ-1 was modified from a standard CZ-series droid to more closely resemble the Stacchati he once served, with black photoreceptors made to look like Stacchati eyes. The droid's hands were human-style manipulators with five digits. By 0 BBY, CZ-1 was ancient with locomotors too broken and sand-encrusted for him to stand or move properly. Despite this, he remained optimistic and hoped to soon be repaired and sold. CZ-1 had white plating that was stained black or brown in many areas.

Stats by FreddyB, Descriptive Text from WookieePedia.
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.