Description: DS-61-4, nicknamed "Dark Curse," served the Galactic Empire as a starfighter pilot during the time before, and during, the Battle of Yavin. An eventual member of Black Squadron, he participated in various Imperial campaigns before being killed by Rebel pilot Wedge Antilles during the Battle of Yavin, where the Rebel Alliance attacked the first Death Star battlestation that DS-61-4 and others in his squadron tried to defend.

Biography
DS-61-4 was a male individual who served as a TIE pilot in the Galactic Empire's navy during the Galactic Civil War fought between the Empire and the Rebel Alliance. At some point, he was given the nickname "Dark Curse," and had survived numerous assaults against dissenter worlds, such as the planets Ralltiir and Mon Calamari. Sometime prior to the Imperial attack on the moon Yavin 4 in 0 BBY, DS-61-4 was assigned to the Empire's first Death Star battlestation as a member of Dark Lord of the Sith Darth Vader's elite TIE Fighter unit, Black Squadron. While serving on the Death Star, DS-61-4 had planned on retiring from military service, with the conclusion of his next combat mission.

Flying the TIE Fighter Black 4 with the call sign of Black Four, DS-61-4 flew with his fellow Black Squadron pilots against the Rebel assault on the Death Star during the Battle of Yavin. During the initial confusion of the battle, DS-61-4 had managed to maneuver his TIE Fighter behind the X-wing Red Five, flown by the rookie Rebel pilot Luke Skywalker, and was able to score a direct hit on the enemy starfighter. DS-61-4's damage to the X-wing caused Skywalker to call for assistance from his fellow Red Squadron pilots. Discovering that he was unable to outmaneuver the pursuing DS-61-4, Skywalker received help from a fellow Rebel pilot, Wedge Antilles, who was able to destroy DS-61-4's TIE Fighter in a Corellian Slip maneuver, ensuring Skywalker's survival.

Equipment
DS-61-4 wore the standard uniform for TIE pilots.
