

Starships D6 / Setec Light Battlecruiser

Setec Light Battlecruiser

The Setec-class battlecruiser was supposed to be Setec Astronomy's greatest accomplishment. Instead, it was a mediocre failure. Slow, poorly armed, and with cheap fire-control computers, the Setec-class was rejected by the Imperial presence in the system. Instead, the three Setecs produced went to SA's defense fleet.

The major Imperial rejection of the Setec-class doesn't mean it isn't formidable to smaller craft, however. It simply failed as a battlecruiser. Had it been manufactured by KDY, for example, it might have been the most effective piracy deterrent this side of the Slice.
