Description: NED-B was a masculine loader droid that operated on the planet Mapuzo during the Imperial Era. The droid worked with Tala Durith in an underground movement that helped smuggle surviving Jedi to safety, and he kept watch over a safehouse hidden within the droid maintenance building of a mining village. NED-B aided the fugitives Obi-Wan Kenobi and Leia Organa in 9 BBY, helping Tala save Kenobi from the Sith Lord Darth Vader.

NED-B was not capable of vocalizing but was still a capable droid. When stormtroopers searched the safehouse, NED-B discreetly grabbed a hammer, preparing to fight if necessary. Although a stormtrooper interrogated him, the troopers soon left.

He escaped with The Path to Jabiim where he later sacrificed himself in battle with stormtroopers to buy time for the other members of the Path to escape. His final act was to shield Tala from the oncoming stormtroopers before dying in her arms.

Despite the fact that his official designation was NED-B, the Aurebesh inscription on his chest read "NED-W", while "NED 1" was printed on his back.
