Description: Gabredor III was a planet that was under the control of the Galactic Empire. It contained a colony that was home to a number of refugees from the planet Tatooine including Kitster Banai and Wald. Between 3 ABY and 4 ABY, Gabredor III was governed by Tauntaza who began to use the services of Crimson Dawn to consolidate her power. The former handmaiden Sabé enlisted the help of the Sith Lord Darth Vader to save the refugees from the governor and when they arrived at the planet they visited the colony and discovered that the planet was drying up because of a drought.

Places of Interest:

Colony

A colony was located on the planet Gabredor III. It contained a number of refugees from the planet Tatooine including Kitster Banai and Wald, that had been freed from slavery by the former handmaiden Sabé and former Naboo Royal Guard Tonra. Eventually, Tauntaza, the governor of Gabredor III began to neglect the planet and the colony as she used the Crimson Dawn criminal syndicate to consolidate her power. Between 3 ABY and 4 ABY, Sabé enlisted the help of the Sith Lord Darth Vader to help free the colony from the governor.

Science Colony

A science colony was located on the planet Gabredor III. By between 3 ABY and 4 ABY, the colony had not been used for years according to the refugee Kitster Banai, though Tauntaza, the Imperial governor of the planet, began to use the science colony to extract a piece of technology she had developed. The Sith Lord Darth Vader, who sought the governor after she had begun working with the criminal syndicate Crimson Dawn, and Imperial Lieutenant Commander Sabé, who was hoping to save a colony of refugees from the governor, tracked the governor to the science colony and launched an attack, though she was able to escape with the help of Crimson Dawn forces.
