Description: DS-181-4 was the call sign of a Human male starfighter pilot who served the Galactic

Empire in the Galactic Civil War. After distinguishing himself during the subjugation of Mon Calamari, DS-181-4 received a promotion to Saber Squadron, part of the 181st Imperial Fighter Group, and flew as Major Turr Phennir's wingman. In 4 ABY, DS-181-4 was present for Sith Lord Darth Vader's arrival aboard the second Death Star, and he later participated in the Battle of Endor.

Biography
The Human male designated by the call sign DS-181-4 was a starfighter pilot in the Imperial Navy during the Galactic Civil War. After scoring twelve kills during the subjugation of Mon Calamari, DS-181-4 earned a position in Baron Soontir Fel's Saber Squadron—part of the 181st Imperial Fighter Group—piloting the TIE/IN interceptor Saber 4. Flying as the wingman of Major Turr Phennir, DS-181-4 was often assigned to fly in a reserve position during battle. Preferring to fly in the 181st, DS-181-4 repeatedly refused promotions so that he could remain in the unit.

In 4 ABY, DS-181-4 was present when the Dark Lord of the Sith Darth Vader arrived aboard the second Death Star to discuss the battlestation's lagging construction schedule with the station's commander, Moff Tiaan Jerjerrod. The Sith Lord announced that Emperor Palpatine himself would be arriving to personally oversee the remainder of the Death Star's assembly. DS-181-4 later flew on Phennir's wing during the Battle of Endor, during which Phennir was assigned to protect the Star Destroyer Avenger. The battle ended in an Imperial defeat with the destruction of the Death Star.

Personality and traits
DS-181-4's considerable skill as a TIE pilot earned him a place in the 181st Imperial Fighter Group. Turning down multiple promotions, DS-181-4 preferred to remain as a pilot in the 181st. In battle, DS-181-4 often flew in a reserve position. He had brown hair, brown eyes, and fair skin.

Equipment
DS-181-4 wore a black Imperial Navy crewman's uniform during his service in the Empire.
