Description: Tenek was a human cook who worked at a hotel on the planet Ferrix while the building was used as a base of operation by the Galactic Empire. In 5 BBY, Tenek entered the kitchen with a tray while a funeral procession was taking place outside for the local woman Maarva Andor. Once in the kitchen, Tenek found himself held at blaster point by Maarva's son, Cassian, but the intruder lowered the weapon once he recognized the cook.

Andor had snuck into the building to find Bix Caleen, a prisoner of the Empire being held there, and he asked Tenek where she was being held. The cook silently nodded him in the right direction, passing on his condolences over Maarva's death. Andor managed to then rescue Caleen and escape without the alarm being raised. Tenek had light skin, brown hair, and brown eyes. While in the kitchen, he wore a brown outfit including an apron and a hat.
