Dungeons and Dragons / Siabhra

Name: Siabhra
Small fey, chaotic neutral
Armor Class: 15 (natural armor)
Hit Points: 45 (10d6 + 10)
Speed: 30 ft.

STR: 10 (+0)
DEX: 18 (+4)
CON: 12 (+1)
INT: 15 (+2)
WIS: 14 (+2)
CHA: 16 (+3)

Skills: Acrobatics +6, Deception +5, Perception +4, Stealth +6
Senses: Darkvision 60 ft., passive Perception 14
Languages: Common, Sylvan
Challenge Rating: 2 (450 XP)

Innate Spellcasting. The Siabhra's innate spellcasting ability is Charisma (spell save DC 13). The Siabhra can innately cast the following spells, requiring no material components:

At will: dancing lights, minor illusion, prestidigitation
1/day each: blink, confusion, dimension door
Fey Step. The Siabhra can cast misty step as a bonus action.

Trickster's Charm. The Siabhra can cast charm person at will, but only against humanoids.
Mischievous Nature. The Siabhra has advantage on saving throws against being charmed or frightened.

Actions

Dagger. Melee Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 6 (1d4 + 4) piercing damage.
Shortbow. Ranged Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, range 80/320 ft., one target. Hit: 7 (1d6 + 4) piercing damage.

Reactions

Uncanny Dodge. When an attacker the Siabhra can see hits it with an attack, the Siabhra can use its reaction to halve the attack's damage against it.

Description: The Siabhra is a small, magical creature that is said to live in the hills and mountains of Scotland.

The Origin of Siabhra
The Siabhra is a mythical creature that has its roots in Scottish folklore. It is said to be a fairy or elf-like creature that is known to be mischievous and playful. It is believed that the Siabhra came into existence in the Scottish Highlands and has been a part of the Scottish folklore for many years.

Physical Description
The Siabhra is a small creature that is often described as being no more than two feet tall. It has a lean and wiry frame, with long, spindly limbs. Its skin is said to be a pale blue or green color, and it has large, pointed ears that are said to be very sensitive to sound. The Siabhra's hair is long and flowing, often described as being a golden or silver color. The creature's eyes are said to be piercing and are often described as being a bright green or blue color.

Habitat
The Siabhra is said to inhabit the hills and mountains of Scotland. It is often depicted as living in caves or burrows, and it is said to be very territorial. The Siabhra is known to be very protective of its home and will often use its magical powers to ward off intruders.

Diet
The Siabhra is said to be a vegetarian and feeds on wild berries, mushrooms, and other plant matter found in the Scottish Highlands. It is also said to have a sweet tooth and enjoys eating honey and other sweet treats.

Abilities
The Siabhra is known for its magical abilities. It is said to have the power to control the weather and is often blamed for sudden storms or changes in the weather. It is also said to have the power of invisibility and is known to be able to disappear in an instant.

Personality
The Siabhra is often depicted as being mischievous and playful. It enjoys playing pranks on humans and other creatures that it comes into contact with. However, it is also said to be fiercely loyal to those it considers friends and will go to great lengths to protect them.

Legend and Mythology
The Siabhra is a prominent figure in Scottish folklore and has been the subject of many myths and legends. It is said to be a guardian of the land and is often associated with the Scottish Highlands. According to legend, the Siabhra is a creature of great power, and those who encounter it are said to be blessed with good luck and fortune.

Stats by FreddyB, Descriptive Text from WookieePedia.
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.