Planets D6 / Serolonis

Name: Serolonis
Class: Terrestrial
Atmosphere: Breathable
Climate: Dry
Primary terrain: Desert
Immigrated species: Arcona, Aqualish, Bith, Balnab, Dowutin, Gamorrean, Gotal, Human, Nosaurian, Pantoran, Rodian, Snivvian, Nikto, Trandoshan, Twi'lek
Major cities: Safa Toma

Description: Serolonis was a desert planet located in the galaxy. It was known for the sport Riot Racing, with events held at the Safa Toma Speedway on Safa Toma, where spectators could place bets.

By 19 BBY, it was not under the control of the recently formed Galactic Empire. At that time, Clone Force 99 members Tech, Wrecker, and Omega, as well as information broker Ciddarin Scaleback, arrived at the planet via a Star Commuter 2000 to meet Cid's droid racer, TAY-0. Cid later made a bet with the Dowutin crime lord Grini Millegi that TAY-0 would win the next race. However, Nosaurian racer Jet Venim won the race. Unable to pay, the members of the Bad Batch stepped up and instead made a new deal of paying double if they lost in the next race. With TAY-0 gone, Tech became the racer for Cid and won the race, thereby saving Cid from Millegi.

Serolonis was a desert planet which featured mainly sand dunes and rocky terrain. From space, it looked like a reddish-yellow ball with patches of green. At least one settlement was on the planet, the main attraction of which was the Safa Toma Speedway, a racecourse with where people could watch Riot Racing, a sport popular on the planet. By 19 BBY, the world was host to various criminals, smugglers, and gamblers.

Places of Interest

Safa Toma

Safa Toma was a city on the planet Serolonis. It was best known for the sport Riot Racing, with events like the Safa Toma Classic being held at the Safa Toma Speedway, where spectators could place bets.

By 19 BBY, it was not under the control of the recently formed Galactic Empire. At that time, Clone Force 99 members Tech, Wrecker, and Omega, as well as information broker Ciddarin Scaleback, arrived at the city via a Star Commuter 2000 to meet Cid's droid racer, TAY-0. Cid later made a bet with the Dowutin crime lord Grini Millegi that TAY-0 would win the next race. However, Nosaurian racer Jet Venim won the race. Unable to pay, the members of the Bad Batch stepped up and instead made a new deal of paying double if they lost in the next race. With TAY-0 gone, Tech became the racer for Cid and won the race, thereby saving Cid from Millegi.

Cafe 94

Cafe 94 was something that was advertised at the Safa Toma Speedway on the planet Serolonis.

Droid Repair (Serolonis)
Droid Repair was a droid repair shop on the planet Serolonis, marketed on an Aurebesh billboard advertisement at the local speedway. A pit droid was pictured on the ad, which included the text "[obscured] OFF" and "SALE'."

Eastern sand dune
The eastern sand dune was located on the desert planet Serolonis. In 19 BBY, the droid racer TAY-0 heard a rumour that the last Riot Racing sponsor who had failed to pay the gangster Grini Millegi took a "permanent pit stop" in the dune.

Hyper Tools
Hyper Tools was a hardware store on the planet Serolonis.. An Aurebesh advertisement at the Safa Toma Speedway was used to market it. It showed the business logo above a pair of tools, and included the text "SUPER [illegible]" and "BUY SOON."

JJ Diner
JJ Diner was a restaurant with multiple locations throughout the galaxy, one on the planet Serolonis and another in Ord Mantell City on Ord Mantell. An Aurebesh advertisement at the Safa Toma Speedway was used to market it. The restaurant's logo featured a green, white, and blue color palette against a dark background and showed a set of eating utensils—a fork, a table knife, and a spoon—over the logo. The sign over the entrance of the Ord Mantell location carried the slogan "BEST AFFORDABLE DELICACIES IN THE GALAXY."

Meatstick Palace
Meatstick Palace was a restaurant on the planet Serolonis where meat sticks were served. An advertisement at the Safa Toma Speedway was used to market it. It included the text "MEATSTICK PALACE" and "YUMMI."

Safa Toma Speedway
The Safa Toma Speedway was a racecourse located on the planet Serolonis. Riot Racing events were held there.

Gambler's Gulch
Gambler's Gulch is a location found in the Safa Toma Speedway on the planet Serolonis. It was a gulch with three tunnels. The left tunnel was presumably a death trap, so most racers went down the center tunnel. That changed when the rogue clone, Tech, went through the left tunnel, and survived thanks to his speeder's high speed.

Left tunnel
The left tunnel was part of the Safa Toma Speedway racecourse on the planet Serolonis. The shortest of three tunnels through which Riot Racing competitors were funnelled at that point in the course, in the early Imperial Era, the tunnel was closed due to damage as part of the racetrack was missing.

T&J Repair
T&J Repair was a vehicle repair shop on the planet Serolonis and in Ord Mantell City on Ord Mantell. An Aurebesh advertisement at the Safa Toma Speedway was used to market it. It showed the company's logo over a picture of an unknown vehicle. There was an alternate version of the ad, which only showing the vehicle, in Ord Mantell City.

Stats by FreddyB, Descriptive Text from WookieePedia.
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.