Equipment D6 / Lum (Alcoholic Beverage)

Name: Lum
Type: Alcoholic Beverage
Price: 5 Credits per glass, 40 Credits per bottle

Description: Lum was an alcoholic beverage that was potable by species such as humans and Lateros. As stated on the label, Deep Core was a type of dark lum found at Cid's Parlor in Ord Mantell City on Ord Mantell, on the planet Serolonis, and in Mokko's quarters in his hive on Ipsidon, shortly after the formation of the Galactic Empire.

During the early days of the Imperial Era, former Jedi Cere Junda had a taste for lum. After being thrown out of Nar Shaddaa's Slag Pit for fighting, she shared a flask of the beverage with her partner Greez Dritus. Although she remembered the night fondly, Junda eventually quit the drink.

The insurgent and freedom fighter Saw Gerrera drank lum with his fellow Partisans during their time at an outpost on the ocean planet Wrea. During one night of discussion with Idryssa Barruck, the two shared a bottle of lum. Gerrera suffered a minor hangover the next morning.

Lum was served at the Zero Angle, a bar located in the Imperial Bright Jewel Oversector Flight Base on the moon Axxila III. Shortly after the Battle of Yavin, Artur Essada, a TIE fighter pilot in the Imperial Army's Nashtah Squadron, drank lum while at the bar. Essada's squadmate Huck Trompo spilt the pilot's lum while gesturing.

Stats by FreddyB, Descriptive Text from WookieePedia.
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.