Description: Imperial armored commandos, also known as Imperial commandos, and Beskar Troopers, were special forces commandos that were active during the New Republic Era, and served under the command of Moff Gideon, a member of the Shadow Council. The commandos were equipped with white blaster resistant armor, reassembling the classic stormtrooper armor, made with an alloy of beskar, like that of Mandalorian armor, along with jetpacks, vambraces, and blasters. Two commandos that escorted Moff Gideon had red-painted vambraces, leg armor, and red stripes on the sides of their helmets. The commandos had better aim than the average stormtrooper. Their gear included powerful blaster rifles, a blaster pistol as a backup sidearm, flamethrowers, whipcord launchers, jetpacks, and a vibro-knife in their right leg sheath. Some commandos were equipped with riot shields and electro riot batons.
