Description: The E-wing escort fighter was an advanced type of combat starfighter made for the New Republic Defense Fleet in the years following the Galactic Empire's fall. It had a crew capacity of one pilot and an astromech droid.
Around 9 ABY, Captain Porter and Lieutenant Callahan of the New Republic Starfighter Corps flew E-wings with astromech droids while pursuing the Mandalorian Sabine Wren, who was riding a speeder bike on the Outer Rim planet Lothal. Porter eventually flew an E-wing against Shin Hati—the Force-sensitive apprentice of Baylan Skoll—who was piloting her own starfighter.

In 34 ABY, Baron Paw Maccon owned an E-wing as part of his collection, located inside his palace on the Colonies planet Cato Neimoidia. During a Cold War mission against the First Order, the Resistance pilot Poe Dameron, witnessed the E-wing with Maccon while needing to borrow a starship from him.
