Description: Ozon Nimbee was a male real estate developer who lived during the High Republic Era. In 232 BBY, Jedi Padawan Celesta Kami and Jedi Initiates Kai Brightstar, Lys Solay, and Nubs encountered the developer in Black Spire Outpost on the Outer Rim planet Batuu. Nimbee attempted to persuade the people of the outpost to permit him to cut down many of the iconic spires surrounding it for the development of new buildings. Although the people were intrigued by his claims of a bigger, better Batuu focused on cosmopolitan amenities, they immediately turned against Nimbee when they realized it would require cutting down the spires. He was nevertheless able to pivot their attention away to elicit a positive response.

Following his sales pitch, Kami and the young Jedi discovered a group of sabotage droids cutting down spires in the forest near the outpost. They trailed the droids back to Nimbee's ship and soon confronted the man during a subsequent community pitch. Nimbee pulled the Jedi away to explain that he was testing if the droids were able to cut through spires, which he found to be eyesores.

When the Jedi revealed his true intentions to cut down all the spires, Nimbee decided to release his swarm of sabotage droids on Black Spire Outpost to demonstrate their capabilities and get his way. The Jedi and townsfolk quickly mobilized to fend off the attacking droids, but one of Nimbee's droids successfully transected the spire overlooking the Milk Stand, nearly crushing the structure before the Jedi caught it with the Force. Counting his losses, Nimbee fled Black Spire in search of another location to build his fancy outpost.
