Description: Fuzzball was a small orange-haired creature belonging to a furry, fluttering species of the same name. During the New Republic Era, Fuzzball and other members of his species were captured by pirates and caged at a pet store in the shadowport of Borgo Prime. Around the year 9 ABY, a group of children from the planet At Attin found themselves lost on Borgo. While looking for directions back home, one of the children, KB, encountered Fuzzball and shared a friendly moment with him. Later, during a skirmish with a pirate crew, KB's droid companion SM-33 threw a Warthog attacker into the pet shop, knocking the cages open and freeing Fuzzball and the others of his kind.
