Creatures D6 / Essel Tiger

Essel Tiger

The Essel Tiger is sort of the big brother to the Essel Cat. A solitary predator, the Essel Tiger is a strong and very fast creature with a much longer range for it's transportation abilities. The explorers were atatcked by an Essel Tiger when studying the wildlife of Faendor, they tried to defend themselves with energy weapons, but the tiger kept transporting out of the way of the weapons fire. Truly a dangerous creature.

    Transportation: Many of the creatures on the world of Faendor have developed this strange mode of transportation. It allows them to seemingly instantly transport from one spot to another spot nearby. It's not quite known how this works but it is beleived it isn't actual teleportation as they cannot move throguh solid objects, thusly they cannot just transport themselves outside of a room unless there's an opening they could normaly fit through. They use this short distances to Dodge, hence their high dodge skills, or as actual movememnt. If they use it as actual movement they may make no other movements this round and the movement counts as an action.
