Special Abilities:

Flight: Toydarians fly almost straight from the womb, and rarely use their legs for locomotion, if for no other reason than prefering to meet other species at eye level.

Force Resistant: Toydarians minds are highly resistant to influence from the force, like many species from Hutt Space. They are immune to mind control and mind reading powers, although can be as easily effected by other powers as anyone else.

Story Factors:

High Metabolism: Toydarians need to eat their specialised diet regularly and heavily, or else they lose their ability to fly within a day or so. However this is regained just as quickly upon them resuming their normal diet.

Greedy: Toydarians are by nature greedy and deceitful, however this is not a massive disadvantage within the galactic community where the majority of people and species exhibit similar tendencies.

Description: Niffla was a Toydarian information broker. In 137 ABY, she sold information to Imperial Admiral Dru Valan about Gial Gahan's part in Gar Stazi's plan to capture the Imperious, an Imperious-class Star Destroyer that was under construction at the Mon Calamari Orbital Shipyards. She also informed Valan that Gahan's niece, Monia, was a pilot in the famed Rogue Squadron of the Galactic Alliance Remnant. Valan ordered Niffla to be confined to the brig of his ship to avoid her leaking the information to anyone else.
