Description: Kiffex was the smaller sister planet of Kiffu in the Azurbani system of the Inner Rim. It had rich soil, giving Kiffex the potential to become a major agriculture producing planet.
It contained prison colonies for Kiffu's sector, overseen by the Kiffu Guardians, having served as a Republic prison world since at least 3000 BBY. Prior to that it was used as a prison colony for the Sith Empire during the annexation of the system. In one of the many holding cells, the Dark Jedi Volfe Karkko was kept in a stasis field. In 30 BBY, the Jedi Aayla Secura accidentally released him. After that incident, the insane Anzati overran the planet.

Kiffex was the home world of the infamous Tonnika sisters.

Places of Interest

Busted Blaster was a spacer's bar on Kiffex, located in Ven Karya Spaceport on the edge of the Trostlos Waste.

History
In 137 ABY, Cade Skywalker and Jariah Syn confronted the Uggli Brothers Gang in the bar and became entangled in a brawl. Responding to break up the fight, Kiffu Guardians stormed the bar. Caught up in the fight, Cade failed to realize that one of the Kiffu Guardians was his cousin, Ahnah, even turning his pistol onto her before Jariah stepped in between them.

Rawk compound
The Rawk compound was a property on the planet Kiffex located near the edge of the Wilds. Droo and "Bantha" Rawk were allowed to move into the compound by Sheyf Zharia Vos in 137 ABY after they fled from Imperial trouble on Iego. A large palace-like house dominated the compound, that included a kitchen, sleeping quarters, a workshop, and a sick bay. Cade Skywalker, Bantha Rawk's nephew, visited the compound in a desperate bid to get Droo to heal his mortally wounded friend Azlyn Rae.
