Creatures D6 / Vrashna Sonic Hounds

Vrashna Sonic Hounds

The Vrashna Hounds, more commonly refered to as sonic or resonance hounds, are very dangerous pack hunters. Their backs can grow in size up to 9 members. The hounds are fast and agile little creatures. They have a hard carpace like skin and their face consists of a single unblinking red eye. The Vrashna hounds emit a high pwoer resonance energy attack which ruptures organs in it's victims. When an entire pack is working together, the resonance attack can be powerful enough to cave in walls. They reonate off eachother so that when they work together in a pack their attack is amplified in power and spreads in distance. It's not sure how the Vrashna hounds actualy eat their prey though, as they have no mouths, and the feeding has never been documented.
