Equipment D6 / Vonduun Skull Helmet

Name: Vonduun Skull Helmet
Type: Helmet
Culture: Aloxian

Game Notes: When worn for an extended period, the Vonduun Skull Helmet bonds with the head of the wearer making it difficult to remove. However when put on the heads of young Aloxians (and presumably the young of other races), the Helmet shatters when they react adulthood and their head has grown in size. In game terms, the helmet adds +2D to Willpower.

Description: A Vonduun skull helmet, also known as a vonduun crab skull mask, a vonduun crab helmet, or as a vonduun helmet, was a type of helmet worn by members of the Aloxian species to help regulate their emotions until they were fully matured. According to the Aloxian Jedi Knight Qort, the helmets dampened some of their strength, but kept them blocked. The helmets were the skulls of vonduun crabs from the planet Zav Alox that the Aloxian had hunted as part of an initation rite.[5]

Stats by FreddyB, Descriptive Text from WookieePedia.
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.